

Andrew Zucker - Carnegie Mellon University

Samuel compactifications and structural Ramsey theory

We will give a modern introduction to Kechris-Pestov-Todorćević correspondence, which connects the dynamics of the automorphism group of a countable first-order structure to combinatorial properties of its finite substructures. Along the way, we will construct the Samuel compactification of a topological group and see how this dynamical object can code combinatorial information.